Advanced Human Rights Law and International Protection Mechanisms Training Course

Course Introduction

Advanced Human Rights Law and International Protection Mechanisms Training Course is designed to strengthen participants' understanding and practical application of international human rights standards, legal frameworks, accountability systems and protection mechanisms. The course explores the evolution of international human rights law, including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR), International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR), regional human rights instruments and international humanitarian law. Participants will examine contemporary human rights challenges, including discrimination, arbitrary detention, torture, enforced disappearances, gender-based violence, refugee protection, digital rights, freedom of expression and violations committed by state and non-state actors. Particular emphasis is placed on human rights-based approaches, constitutional protections, international legal obligations, state accountability and access to justice.

Participants will develop advanced competencies in human rights monitoring, strategic litigation, international complaint procedures, evidence documentation, legal advocacy, treaty reporting, human rights impact assessments and victim-centred protection strategies. Through practical exercises, comparative legal analysis, case studies and simulated international proceedings, the programme equips participants with the expertise to address complex human rights violations, strengthen institutional accountability, promote access to effective remedies and contribute to the implementation of international human rights obligations at national, regional and global levels.

Course Duration

10 Days
