Advanced Urban Planning and Development Training Course

Introduction

Advanced Urban Planning and Development Training Course provides a comprehensive framework for strategic urban growth, sustainable city development, spatial planning, infrastructure integration, land-use management, urban governance, and resilient development. The course equips professionals with advanced urban planning tools, evidence-based decision-making approaches, smart-city strategies, climate-responsive planning techniques, and innovative development frameworks for managing rapidly changing urban environments.

Participants will explore contemporary urban development challenges including population growth, housing demand, mobility, infrastructure deficits, environmental pressures, informal settlements, climate change, and digital transformation. Through practical applications and global case studies, the course develops capabilities in integrated urban development planning, urban regeneration, transit-oriented development, sustainable infrastructure, participatory planning, and inclusive city management aligned with international development priorities.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Apply advanced urban planning and development principles.
- Develop strategic spatial planning frameworks.
- Analyze urban growth and land-use dynamics.
- Implement sustainable and climate-resilient urban development.
- Apply smart-city and digital planning technologies.
- Integrate infrastructure into urban development strategies.
- Design effective urban regeneration programs.
- Strengthen inclusive and participatory planning.
- Apply transit-oriented development principles.
