API Integrations for M&E Systems Training Course

Introduction

Modern Monitoring & Evaluation (M&E) systems increasingly rely on interoperable digital ecosystems that connect data sources across platforms in real time. API Integrations for M&E Systems Training Course equips participants with the practical knowledge and skills to design, implement, and manage API-driven M&E systems that seamlessly integrate data from surveys, MIS, dashboards, mobile tools, GIS platforms, and donor reporting systems. Participants will gain hands-on exposure to RESTful APIs, data pipelines, automation, system interoperability, and real-time analytics for evidence-based decision-making.

The training emphasizes scalable, secure, and standards-compliant API integrations that support adaptive management, learning agendas, and results-based reporting. Through real-world case studies from development, humanitarian, health, and governance programs, learners will understand how APIs enhance data quality, reduce manual reporting, enable digital transformation, and future-proof M&E systems in line with digital public goods (DPGs) and open data principles.
