ArcGIS Pro for Urban Planning Training Course

Introduction

ArcGIS Pro for Urban Planning Training Course provides practical, industry-focused skills in geographic information systems (GIS), spatial analysis, urban development planning, land-use management, infrastructure planning, and geospatial visualization. The course develops advanced capabilities in ArcGIS Pro for transforming spatial data into actionable insights that support sustainable urban growth, smart cities, transportation planning, environmental management, zoning, and evidence-based decision-making. Participants learn professional GIS workflows including data creation, editing, geoprocessing, coordinate systems, cartographic design, spatial databases, remote sensing integration, and interactive mapping.

The course emphasizes real-world urban planning applications, including urban growth analysis, land suitability assessment, population mapping, infrastructure accessibility, development control, environmental impact assessment, and spatial planning. Participants also explore global case studies demonstrating how GIS supports resilient cities, climate-smart development, sustainable infrastructure, and public-private partnership (PPP) projects. Through hands-on exercises and project-based learning, participants develop the technical and analytical competencies required to apply ArcGIS Pro effectively within modern planning institutions and organizations.
