Data Lakehouse Architecture for Research Data Training Course

Introduction

In today’s rapidly evolving data-driven research landscape, traditional data management systems are no longer sufficient to meet the needs of modern research workflows. The Data Lakehouse Architecture is revolutionizing how research institutions, universities, and organizations handle vast and diverse datasets by combining the best features of data lakes and data warehouses. Data Lakehouse Architecture for Research Data Training Course is designed to equip researchers, data architects, and data analysts with the critical knowledge and technical expertise needed to implement and manage a high-performance data lakehouse system that supports real-time analytics, scalable storage, and structured/unstructured data processing.

Through hands-on labs, real-world case studies, and expert-led modules, participants will explore the integration of big data frameworks (like Apache Spark and Delta Lake) with cloud platforms, ensuring governance, data quality, and enhanced collaboration in research environments. Whether you are dealing with genomic data, climate simulations, or behavioral research, this course offers a comprehensive guide to unlocking the full potential of data lakehouse architecture for scientific research.
