Introduction

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) Legal Compliance Training Course is designed to equip participants with the legal knowledge, regulatory expertise and practical competencies required to manage evolving ESG compliance obligations, corporate sustainability risks and responsible business practices. This course explores the legal foundations of ESG, including environmental legislation, climate change regulations, pollution prevention, biodiversity protection, occupational health and safety, labour rights, diversity and inclusion, anti-corruption legislation, corporate accountability and ethical business conduct. Participants will examine internationally recognised frameworks and regulatory developments, including the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, International Labour Organization (ILO) standards, the Paris Agreement, the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), the International Sustainability Standards Board (ISSB) standards and relevant national ESG regulatory requirements.

Particular emphasis is placed on emerging compliance priorities such as climate-related financial disclosures, greenwashing prevention, responsible investment, sustainable procurement, modern slavery legislation, data transparency and supply chain human rights due diligence. Through practical exercises, regulatory case studies, compliance simulations and expert-led discussions, participants will learn how to develop effective ESG compliance policies, establish internal controls, strengthen board oversight and integrate legal requirements into corporate strategy.
