Forensic Nursing in Sexual Assault Cases Training Course

Introduction

Forensic nursing plays a critical role in the medical-legal response to sexual assault cases. This specialized discipline merges the healthcare profession with the judicial system, enabling nurses to collect evidence, document injuries, and support survivors through trauma-informed care. As the global demand for trained forensic nurses increases, this comprehensive training course is tailored to equip participants with the knowledge, skills, and tools required to handle sexual assault cases professionally and sensitively. Forensic Nursing in Sexual Assault Cases Training Course is designed in accordance with international best practices and national forensic protocols, ensuring its relevance and applicability in real-world settings.

With trending healthcare topics such as trauma-informed care, evidence-based documentation, gender-sensitive practice, and victim advocacy on the rise, this course leverages the latest clinical innovations, legal reforms, and investigative methodologies. Participants will gain exposure to live case studies, simulation training, digital forensics integration, and interdisciplinary collaboration. This is not just a nursing course; it is a critical step toward improving justice outcomes for survivors of sexual violence.

Course Objectives

- Understand the core principles of forensic nursing in sexual assault investigations.
- Learn trauma-informed approaches for interviewing and examining survivors.
- Acquire legal knowledge regarding consent, documentation, and testimony in court.
- Apply standardized sexual assault evidence collection protocols (SAECK).

- Identify types of sexual assault injuries and associated forensic markers.
- Develop digital documentation and photographic evidence skills.
- Differentiate between pediatric, adolescent, and adult sexual assault cases.
- Implement chain of custody procedures for forensic integrity.
- Address cultural competency in responding to survivors from diverse backgrounds.
- Collaborate effectively with law enforcement, legal teams, and advocacy services.
- Learn to handle male and LGBTQIA+ survivor cases with sensitivity.
