Library Performance Management Training Course

Introduction

Modern libraries operate in an increasingly data-driven environment where performance measurement, evidence-based decision-making, service excellence, digital transformation, user satisfaction, innovation, strategic planning, and accountability determine institutional success. Library Performance Management enables organizations to establish measurable objectives, monitor key performance indicators (KPIs), optimize resource utilization, improve service delivery, and enhance stakeholder engagement. Through performance analytics, benchmarking, quality assurance, and continuous improvement, libraries can align their operations with organizational goals while adapting to evolving user expectations.

Library Performance Management Training Course equips participants with practical skills to develop, implement, monitor, and improve comprehensive library performance management systems using international best practices. Participants will explore performance dashboards, balanced scorecards, ISO quality standards, digital library metrics, customer experience measurement, strategic reporting, risk management, and continuous performance improvement. The course combines practical case studies with proven methodologies to strengthen organizational efficiency, innovation, transparency, and sustainable library excellence.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Develop strategic library performance management frameworks.
