Oil and Gas Decarbonization Strategies Training Course

Introduction

Oil and Gas Decarbonization Strategies Training Course is designed to equip energy professionals with the technical knowledge, strategic frameworks, and practical skills required to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions across the oil and gas value chain. This comprehensive training course explores cutting-edge decarbonization technologies, carbon management strategies, methane emissions reduction, carbon capture, utilization and storage (CCUS), operational energy efficiency, electrification, renewable energy integration, and emissions measurement and reporting. Participants will learn how to identify emissions hotspots, establish carbon baselines, assess Scope 1, Scope 2, and relevant Scope 3 emissions, and develop cost-effective decarbonization roadmaps aligned with corporate sustainability objectives and international climate goals.

The course also focuses on implementing practical low-carbon transformation strategies across upstream exploration and production, midstream transportation and processing, and downstream refining and petrochemical operations. Through real-world case studies, technical exercises, and strategic planning sessions, participants will examine solutions such as flare reduction, methane leak detection and repair (LDAR), waste heat recovery, energy-efficient equipment, low-carbon hydrogen, carbon pricing, digital emissions monitoring, and sustainable asset management. Particular attention is given to decarbonization economics, climate risk assessment, carbon accounting, environmental, social and governance (ESG) performance, and energy transition investment planning. By the end of the training, participants will be better prepared to evaluate emerging technologies, prioritize emissions-reduction initiatives, measure carbon abatement costs, and develop actionable decarbonization plans that balance environmental responsibility, operational reliability, energy security, and financial performance.

Course Duration

5 days
