Oilfield Chemical Management and Optimization Training Course

Introduction

Oilfield Chemical Management and Optimization Training Course is designed to equip oil and gas professionals with the technical knowledge and practical skills required to optimize chemical usage, improve production efficiency, protect oilfield assets, and reduce operational expenditure. This comprehensive training course explores the selection, application, monitoring, and optimization of oilfield chemicals, including corrosion inhibitors, scale inhibitors, demulsifiers, biocides, hydrate inhibitors, wax dispersants, asphaltene treatment chemicals, and production-enhancement additives. Participants will gain practical insights into chemical treatment optimization, chemical compatibility testing, production chemistry, flow assurance management, laboratory analysis, and chemical performance monitoring, enabling them to make informed technical decisions that improve operational reliability and hydrocarbon recovery.

Participants will learn how to establish effective chemical management programmes, conduct chemical audits, evaluate supplier performance, optimize dosage rates, troubleshoot chemical-related production problems, and measure treatment effectiveness using key performance indicators (KPIs). Through practical exercises, field-based scenarios, laboratory demonstrations, and industry case studies, delegates will explore solutions to challenges such as excessive chemical consumption, corrosion failures, mineral scale deposition, persistent emulsions, microbial contamination, and flow assurance disruptions. The training integrates risk-based chemical selection, process safety, chemical handling procedures, and environmental considerations to promote safe, efficient, and sustainable oilfield operations. By the end of the programme, participants will be better prepared to implement cost-effective oilfield chemical strategies, enhance production performance, extend equipment service life, minimize unplanned shutdowns, and support operational excellence across oil and gas facilities.
