Policy Coherence for Sustainable Development (PCSD) Training Course

Introduction

In an increasingly complex and interconnected world, achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) requires more than siloed, sector-specific policies. It demands a holistic, integrated approach that addresses the intricate interlinkages and potential trade-offs between economic, social, and environmental dimensions. Policy Coherence for Sustainable Development (PCSD) Training Course is meticulously designed to equip policymakers, government officials, and development professionals with the essential skills and knowledge to navigate this complexity. By fostering a whole-of-government and whole-of-society approach, we aim to transform how public policies are designed, implemented, and evaluated, ensuring they are mutually reinforcing and ultimately accelerate progress towards the 2030 Agenda.

This course will delve into the core principles of PCSD, moving beyond theory to practical application. Participants will learn how to identify and mitigate policy incoherencies, capitalize on synergies, and embed long-term sustainability into their decision-making processes. Through a dynamic mix of case studies, interactive workshops, and expert-led discussions, we will build a community of practice dedicated to creating more resilient, equitable, and sustainable societies. We are committed to empowering leaders with the tools to champion integrated policymaking and drive real-world change.
