Public-Private Partnership Market Sounding Techniques Training Course

Introduction

Public-Private Partnership Market Sounding Techniques Training Course provides practical, strategic, and market-focused skills for professionals responsible for developing, evaluating, structuring, procuring, and managing Public-Private Partnership projects. The course examines market sounding, investor engagement, private-sector consultation, market intelligence, project bankability, risk allocation, commercial feasibility, procurement strategy, and stakeholder engagement. Participants will learn how structured market sounding can test investor appetite, identify market constraints, improve project design, strengthen value-for-money assessments, and support evidence-based Public-Private Partnership decision-making.

The training emphasizes modern Public-Private Partnership market engagement approaches, including digital consultation, investor mapping, competitive dialogue, industry engagement, data-driven market analysis, transaction preparation, and confidential information management. Participants will explore international best practices and global case studies while developing practical tools for designing market sounding exercises that produce credible market intelligence without compromising procurement integrity, competition, transparency, or confidentiality.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Apply advanced Public-Private Partnership market sounding principles.
- Design effective investor engagement and consultation strategies.
- Conduct structured market intelligence and appetite assessments.
- Evaluate private-sector capacity, capability, and investment interest.
- Apply bankability and commercial feasibility concepts.
- Identify market risks, constraints, and investment barriers.
- Develop market sounding questionnaires and engagement tools.
- Strengthen stakeholder mapping and communication strategies.
- Apply procurement integrity, transparency, and confidentiality requirements.
