Course Curriculum & Modules

Securities Trading Operations in Banking Training Course

Introduction

In today's fast-evolving capital markets ecosystem, banks must operate with high-performance securities trading operations, driven by digital transformation, real-time processing, regulatory compliance, and risk optimization. Securities Trading Operations in Banking Training Course delivers a comprehensive understanding of front-to-back trading lifecycle management, covering trade execution, clearing and settlement, market infrastructure, liquidity management, and post-trade automation. Participants will gain insights into algorithmic trading, blockchain in securities, AI-driven analytics, and straight-through processing (STP) to enhance operational efficiency and reduce systemic risks.

With increasing regulatory scrutiny and market volatility, financial institutions must strengthen their operational resilience, trade transparency, and compliance frameworks. This training equips professionals with practical expertise in trade processing workflows, reconciliation, corporate actions, collateral management, and operational risk mitigation. Through real-world case studies, emerging trends, and global best practices, participants will develop the skills needed to excel in modern securities trading operations within investment and commercial banking environments.
