Course Curriculum & Modules

Taxation & Consolidated Financial Statements Training Course

Introduction

In today's dynamic financial environment, understanding taxation and consolidated financial statements is vital for achieving compliance, transparency, and informed decision-making. Taxation & Consolidated Financial Statements Training Course provides participants with the essential tools to analyze, prepare, and interpret consolidated financial reports while integrating tax compliance and reporting strategies in line with global financial standards. It aims to enhance participants' capability to align taxation policies with financial reporting processes and achieve improved governance.

Participants will gain a holistic understanding of corporate taxation, deferred tax management, group accounting, and financial statement consolidation based on IFRS standards. This training also explores modern tax planning, inter-company transactions, and reporting accuracy in multinational organizations. Through real-world case studies, participants will learn to navigate the complexities of tax and consolidation practices with confidence and precision.

Course Objectives

- Understand the principles and applications of consolidated financial statements under IFRS.
- Master corporate taxation frameworks and their integration into financial reporting.
- Analyze inter-company transactions and eliminate unrealized profits effectively.
- Evaluate deferred tax assets and liabilities for improved fiscal transparency.
- Enhance financial decision-making using consolidated data analytics.

- Apply modern tax compliance tools for reporting efficiency.
- Interpret complex group structures and assess minority interests.
- Improve internal controls for taxation and consolidation accuracy.
- Strengthen skills in preparing consolidated statements for multinational entities.
- Utilize automation and data analytics in tax and financial reporting systems.
