Course Curriculum & Modules

Transfer Pricing Risk Management Training Course

Introduction

Transfer Pricing Risk Management Training Course provides a comprehensive understanding of how multinational enterprises (MNEs) and tax authorities identify, assess, and manage risks associated with transfer pricing. Participants will explore strategies for ensuring compliance with OECD guidelines, BEPS (Base Erosion and Profit Shifting) standards, and domestic transfer pricing regulations. The course emphasizes practical approaches to minimizing disputes, improving documentation quality, and strengthening internal governance structures.

This course also equips participants with analytical tools to evaluate transfer pricing risks, design risk control mechanisms, and manage audits and adjustments effectively. It combines global best practices, case-based learning, and data-driven insights to enable professionals to anticipate regulatory challenges and develop robust transfer pricing risk frameworks that promote tax certainty and transparency.

Course Objectives

1. Understand the fundamentals of transfer pricing and associated risk factors.
2. Analyze OECD and BEPS frameworks relevant to transfer pricing compliance.
3. Develop robust risk identification and assessment procedures for transfer pricing.
4. Learn methods for managing tax audits, adjustments, and dispute resolution.
5. Enhance documentation and record-keeping for transfer pricing defense.
6. Integrate transfer pricing governance into enterprise risk management systems.

7. Apply data analytics and technology to monitor intercompany transactions.
8. Evaluate financial and operational impacts of transfer pricing risks.
9. Strengthen internal controls for related-party transactions.
10. Interpret country-by-country reporting requirements and implications.
11. Develop strategies for proactive transfer pricing compliance.
12. Understand tax authority risk assessment models and audit triggers.
13. Learn from global case studies of transfer pricing disputes and resolutions.

Organizational Benefits

· Enhanced compliance with global and local transfer pricing regulations.
· Reduced exposure to costly disputes and financial penalties.
· Improved risk management frameworks for intercompany pricing.
· Increased confidence in documentation and audit preparedness.
· Better alignment with OECD and BEPS transfer pricing standards.
· Strengthened internal governance and control systems.
· More accurate and transparent intercompany pricing mechanisms.
· Improved communication with tax authorities and stakeholders.
· Efficient integration of technology in transfer pricing analysis.
· Strengthened reputation through proactive tax compliance practices.
