Course Curriculum & Modules

Urban Investment Planning Training Course

Introduction

Urban Investment Planning is a strategic discipline for transforming urban development priorities into financially viable, sustainable, inclusive, and investment-ready projects. Urban Investment Planning Training Course provides practical knowledge and advanced tools for urban investment strategies, infrastructure financing, capital investment planning, project prioritization, public-private partnerships, municipal finance, land-value capture, urban regeneration, climate-resilient investment, and sustainable urban development. Participants will learn how to connect urban plans with investment pipelines, assess project feasibility, mobilize public and private capital, and develop investment frameworks aligned with economic growth, social inclusion, environmental sustainability, and resilient city development.

The course emphasizes evidence-based urban investment decision-making, financial analysis, investment appraisal, risk management, stakeholder engagement, and innovative financing mechanisms. Participants will examine international urban investment practices and global case studies while developing practical approaches for prioritizing infrastructure and development projects. The training also explores project preparation, investment-ready city portfolios, institutional capacity, sustainable infrastructure finance, and public-private partnerships, enabling organizations to strengthen their ability to attract investment and deliver measurable urban development outcomes.
